Introduction

Amazon.com has revolutionized the way people shop. It is going to do even more in the future.

With a wide array of products and low prices it has become the online Wal-Mart. There is basically nothing that you cannot find on Amazon from baby diapers (surprisingly- the best selling product) to tractors. There are people buying cars at Amazon. Amazon promotional codes and free shipping make the online store a darling of many.

If you are like me you love shopping on Amazon. They consistently have the lowest prices on almost all products. They also have great customer service. Pay with one click and the item is delivered to your door within a day or two. No messing with credit card numbers (assuming you have already set up an account) and no filling in messy forms

It cannot get better than that. No more burning expensive gas driving to the mall, no more wasting precious time, no more lugging heavy items and large flat screen TVs and loading them into the tiny trunk of your saloon. It will all be done by Amazon, and all you need is a signature as they get delivered. The best thing about it is that you still pay very low prices (and no sales tax) often much less than what you pay at your local retail outlets.

Amazon set up in 1994

Amazon was set up in 1994 as an online retailer of books. However in 1995 it began to sell other things such as CDs and DVDs. Today they offer streaming videos, furniture, apparel and even food. Amazon allows you to buy either through their Amazon warehouse or from other vendors and or individual sellers. Used items such as books can cost pennies on the dollar.

Best of all Amazon offers guarantees on all items including used ones. This gives customers peace of mind. If you are unsatisfied, you can try to negotiate with the seller for a replacement or you can simply return the items. You can file a claim using the A to Z Guarantee page.

Amazon takes its reputation seriously. It is now trusted by millions of customers and sells items worth billions of dollars per year. Millions of people trust Amazon with their credit cards and other sensitive information. When people click onto Amazon, they don't hesitate about making purchases.

Better than Amazon Promotional Codes.

There are many places that one can get Amazon promotional code online. However we want to discuss another strategy that many, including myself have used to save hundreds of dollars.

If you are always searching for Amazon promotional codes you will be pleased to know about this new tactic – which can save you even more money – up to 80% or even 90% on many of your regular purchases. Not many people are away of this tactic.

.One of the things that many customers, and people who look for Amazon promotional codes, don't know is that the search mechanism at Amazon does not reveal all the deals that are available. Just like your favorite pizza place won't tell you about specials unless you ask- Amazon wants you to pay the full price. Amazon keeps a tab on product price drops but it does not offer you a way to isolate those price drop deals from the rest.

Sometimes the price drops because the product is no longer in demand and the vendors are seeking to empty their Inventory or the product line has been discounted or there is a new version of the product in the market. Sometimes it is even due to a pricing mistake!

If you go over to Amazon and click search – it is NOT possible to search products by discounts. However now you can- with a top secret discount finder. Software has been codes by experts which has the ability to search products on the basic of discount levels. While all the products that you want to buy may not be on the discount list- you want to look there first just in case they are!

So here is the blistering effective tool to find what you are looking for within seconds and even stipulate the minimum discount your are looking for. If you only want to look for product with 70% discount then you just select 70%, select the product category (if it is not the default) and hit search!

1. Pick a category, say Computers

2. Pick a discount, maybe 70% (and above) off!

3. Click “Find Amazon discounts”.

Within seconds the tool will pull up all the discounts including pages that you never knew existed and that Amazon has never showed you before.

Note that this not only works in the US but also in UK and other European nations local Amazons. Non-US Amazon sites as well. It supports Amazon.co.uk (United Kingdom), Amazon.ca (Canada), Amazon.de (Germany), Amazon.fr (France) and soon Amazon.jp (Japan).
